FEROX LEGAL advises Peiker on investment into SKYFive AG

Frankfurt/Main, 6 September 2022. German telematics specialist peiker has invested in Nokia spinoff SKYFive AG. peiker Holding is a developer of innovative communications systems, SKYFive offers broadband connections for commercial aircraft via existing telecommunications infrastructure. The investment marks a major milestone towards digitalization in the aviation industry which will lead to significant efficiency gains and service level improvements for both airlines and passengers.

German telematics specialist peiker Holding GmbH, based in Bad Homburg, together with other strategic key investors is reacting to the increasing demand for efficient and affordable high-speed internet access in commercial aviation. SKYFive AG, based in Taufkirchen/Munich, is offering innovative solutions in this market. The Nokia spinoff allows airlines and passengers worldwide greatly improved internet access for commercial airliners to existing, ground-based telecommunications infrastructure via so-called air-to-ground communication ("A2G"). This means significantly improved bandwidth at substantially lower cost than existing access routes via satellite and thus provides mass access and complete digitalization in the aviation industry for the first time.

FEROX-Corporate-Partner Dr. Johannes Weisser, who led the team which advised peiker on the SKYFive-Transaktion, explains:

"peiker will continue to support SKYFive also via FTI Engineering Network GmbH in Wildau/Berlin. FTI is a specialist for video-based security systems in aviation which provides innovative camera-, video- und sensor technology-based solutions and is also part of the Peiker family group of companies."

Other strategic key investors of SKYFive are Safran Corporate Ventures, the VC arm of Safran, one of the largest aviation suppliers worldwide, ATKA Capital, a London-based investment fund with long-standing experience in the aviation industry which has raised a dedicated fund for the investment, and SCIT who will assist in promoting SKYFive's A2G business in Saudi Arabia and the Middle East.

CEO Andreas Peiker is very excited about the latest developments: "The Peiker success story started with bringing cellular technology to the automotive industry and enabling the connected car. Commercial aviation is at the cusp of a similar connectivity revolution, and we are thrilled to spearhead it once more."
